HOWITZERS READY FOR CAMP STUART

Battery to Spend Week in Country, Marching Out from Town To-Day.

Under command of Captain W. M. Myers, fifty members of the Howitzers Battery will leave the army at 3 o'clock this afternoon for a hike to Camp Stuart, where they will remain in camp for seven days. It will not be much of a picnic, for the men will be instructed in various branches, most of the time being spent in maneuvering. The march itself will be something of an appetizer, but when the men strike camp supper will be cooked, and it will be relished after the thirteen-mile march from Richmond.

Captain Myers said last night that the camp will be known as Camp Stuart, principally for the reason that the gallant Confederate of that name fought and maneuvered in the vicinity. The march will be pitched about three miles from Glen Allen, from which point the soldiers will be able to communicate with friends in the city.

War-Time Instructions. The march to-day will include the soldiers, and as the soldiers move along they will attract as much attention as they did last year when they returned from the remarkable hike through the Valley of Virginia. While away they will receive instructions in horsemanship, driving, which means the handling of six horses at one time; sub-calibre practice, pistol practice, mounted and dismounted, and other dismounted movements.

Captain Myers' staff will include Lieutenant E. C. Reese, Lieutenant John T. Wood, Captain and Surgeon F. K. T. Warrick, and Captain and Adjutant T. M. Wortham. Because of the fact that many of the soldiers have had a vacation heretofore, it was not possible for more than fifty to go with the command, although others will run out for a day or two at a time, which will be helpful and instructive.

COAST ARTILLERY

Third Company is Authorized by Governor Through Adjutant-General. The new company has been designated as the Third Company, Coast Artillery, Virginia Volunteers.

Following a list of officers who have just been commissioned by the Governor: Captain John C. Armstrong, Company C, Richmond Light Infantry Blues; Captain J. B. Tucker, Richmond Light Infantry Blues; Second Lieutenant C. H. Reddy, Company F, First Virginia Infantry; First Lieutenant J. N. Faircloth and Second Lieutenant G. W. MURRAY ACQUITTED ON CHARGE OF ROBBERY

Alexander S. Murray, who was arrested on August 22, charged with robbery, has been dismissed from the Henrico jail by Magistrate Lewis, the Commonwealth failing to substantiate its charge. There was nothing in the evidence to show that Murray was guilty of the crime. Murray has served in the British army, and came here with excellent recommendations. He said yesterday that his own premises were burglarized and many of his valuables stolen.

Quality as Notaries. Ordway Puller and Heath J. Rawley qualified as notaries public in the Henrico County yesterday morning. They were recently appointed by the Governor.

Dr. Barringer Here. Dr. Paul B. Barringer, president of the Virginia Polytechnic Institute, was in the city for a few hours yesterday, having been registered at the Richmond Hotel. He left for his home last night.

RICHMOND WINS AGAIN

Virginia-Carolina Photographers Vote to Return Here Next Year.

WINSTON-SALEM DEFEATED

Convention Wants Committee to Select This City—A. M. Black New President.

Richmond has won again. In a spirited voting contest, in competition with Winston-Salem and Charlotte, this city was later night recommended to the executive committee of the Photographers' Association of Virginia and the Carolinas as the place of meeting in 1910. The majority was overwhelming, and there is no doubt, members of the convention say, that the committee will accede to the wishes of the individuals.

There was no suggestion in the beginning that Richmond would be mentioned, but no sooner had C. O. Towles, of Washington, an outsider attending the meetings, suggested a return visit there, than the delegation put their heads together, and immediately the other cities in the race were seen to be in the minority. On the first ballot the count was close, but after several standing votes had been taken, one after another of those favoring the Carolina city swayed, and the photographing society expressed their appreciation of the courtesies extended to them by Mayor Richardson and the Chamber of Commerce.

Moved for Return Here. O. W. Cole, of Danville, one of the most active representatives of the organization, made the motion to come back here next year, and in presenting this city's claims he paid a tribute to the activity of Business Manager Dabney, and outlined the advantages possessed by Richmond, through which it is fast becoming the "recognized convention city of the United States."

To meet twice in the same place is establishing a new precedent, and Richmond is the only city the camera men have ever considered honoring by a visit for two consecutive years.

President A. M. Black stated that the executive committee will meet some time after the first of the year, and although he could not speak for all those who will have the naming of the next meeting place, he stated that there is scarcely any doubt that the majority will be recognized. Mr. Dabney was not present at the meeting when the question of a meeting place was discussed, but he had been in and out among the members, and all the visitors had been given to understand that Richmond is always ready to welcome such bodies, and at all times willing to stretch forth the glad hand of hospitality.

Black Made President. The Richmond convention of the Photographers' Association has been the most successful and the most largely attended ever held. There were more than 100 active members present, and aside from this year's new names were added to the secretary's list here. The chief business yesterday, other than the selection of a first vice-president, was the election of officers, which resulted as follows: Richmond; Second Vice-President, W. M. Wheeler, Greenville, S. C.; Third Vice-President, W. E. Eustler, Greensboro, N. C.; Secretary, J. E. Alexandria, Salisbury, N. C.; Treasurer, R. W. Holsinger, Charlottesville, Va.; Trustees, W. H. Tyner, of Richmond, N. C.; A. H. Flecker, Lynchburg, Va.; and J. H. Windbourne, Sumter, S. C.

The choice of delegates to the Congress of Photography, which will be held previous to the next meeting of the American Photographers' Association, was made in the selection of many names. Those named were: W. H. Tyner, of Richmond, N. C.; W. Holsinger, of Charlottesville, Va.; W. E. Eustler, of Greensboro, N. C.; and J. H. Windbourne, of Sumter, S. C.

License Issued. A marriage license was issued in the Henrico County yesterday morning to Kenneth Nelson and Miss Grace Throckmorton. Mr. Nelson gave his occupation as that of machinist.

IMPURE WATER TAKES MANY LIVES

State Board of Health Urges Greater Care in Protecting Source of Supply.

In a special bulletin issued yesterday the State Board of Health calls attention to the importance of protecting the water supply as a means of saving human life. "The health of your self and your family," says the bulletin, "depends more upon good water than upon anything else. Both in town and country good water can be procured if the simple requirements as laid down are observed."

The paper deals with every phase of the situation, from the old-fashioned spring to the modern artesian well. It is pointed out that certain diseases are attributable directly to the water supply, while the means of protection are made clear. The bulletin, which will be given wide circulation in Virginia, says:

"No single factor is more vital to the health of an individual than the quality of the water he drinks. Pure water is absolutely necessary to the maintenance of life, and impure water invariably brings disease and ill health to those who drink it. A number of diseases, such as typhoid fever and Asiatic cholera, are carried directly by impure water; but other diseases not connected with the water are fostered by impure drinking water. This is shown by the high death rate from all diseases in communities where the drinking water is impure. It follows that to those who dwell in the country or in small towns, where they must depend upon their own spring or well, the quality of their water is a matter of prime importance.

"Inasmuch as the quality of water is affected by various circumstances, it is not easy to define exactly what constitutes pure water. Of course, wherever it is possible, drinking water should first of all be clear, or, in other words, it should be free from suspended matter, giving rise to a cloudy or milky appearance. While it is true that water may be brilliantly clear, and at the same time be infected, it is also true that a muddy water is much more apt to be infected than one that is perfectly clear. There are other obvious reasons why a clear water is preferable for domestic supply to one that is always cloudy or muddy."

LEAVE WAGES AND LARGE NEW LAWS

Ordinance Committee Approves Measure to Keep People Off Park Grass.

MANY OFFICES CREATED

Additional Electrical Inspector Recommended—Fine Minors Who Enter Saloons.

Many new measures were acted upon last night by the Council Committee on Ordinance, Charter and Reform, resulting in the recommendation that new offices be created, in the approval of proposed ordinances, and in the increase of the city's expenditures on the payroll. A careful hearing was given to the heads of the various departments desiring either new officers or additional assistance in a financial way.

Perhaps the most important office created was that of an additional electrical inspector, at a salary of $90 per month. The City Electrician and the present inspector demonstrated the urgent need for this new officer, pointing out that the present situation in electrical inspection is one of great congestion, and that the safety of the citizens depends upon thorough electrical inspection, which is now impossible. The tendency in some houses to improperly use electrical equipment so as to increase the danger of combustion has rendered complete inspection an imperative necessity.

Some New Offices. Five other measures connected with the electrical department were passed. Upon the recommendation and request of the Committee on Electricity, a night watchman and a day watchman for the electric department were recommended to the City Council, at a salary of $60 per month. Two concrete inspectors, to serve until the completion of the new plant, were also recommended to be appointed at a stipend of $100 a month.

The city council added is not a newly created office, but is simply one of the city linemen, who is to be paid $10 per month extra by the City School Board for the extra time he puts in on the inspection and supervision of the telephone and electric systems of the city schools. Owing to the location in the various schools of these systems, it was essential that they be looked after by a competent man, and the School Board found this scheme to be the most economical, and simply, by advice of the City Attorney, asked the committee for the necessary money. This was granted.

Another new officer recommended to be created was an assistant bookkeeper and accountant for the office of the City Engineer. It was shown that the present bookkeeper, William Statton, has more than 100 bills payable, and the request therefore was acted upon favorably.

The City School Board desired a new office created in the form of a secretary to the Superintendent of City Schools, who has been forced to act as his own stenographer. The committee recommended to the Council the creation of the office and the appropriation of $223 to pay his salary from now until the end of the current year.

Water Department Increases. Upon the suggestion of Superintendent of the water department, the City Council increased the salary of the water department employees. The fact that ordinary house plumbers, who do not have to suffer the exposure and discomforts of outside work, receive $3.50, seemed a reasonable increase for the committee for this increase.

Cannot Walk on Grass. Captain Atkinson, the veteran of the Fire Department, will fill the new office of supervisor of repairs in the Fire Department, which the committee decided to recommend to Council. A salary of $400 per month was attached, and the incumbent will have entire supervision of all the repairs to the houses and buildings of the department. The Board of Fire Commissioners pressed the demand for this office and felt that its creation would be an economy, besides providing suitable employment for one of the city's long faithful servants.

The ordinances which were recommended for favorable action by the Council are four in number. The first is one repealing the laws now on the statute book relative to licenses for gambling, etc. They are repugnant to the acts of the Legislature, and the City Attorney suggested that they be removed, so that the Code will not contain them.

Prizes Awarded. As many of the delegates leave the city early to-day, the award of prizes was made last night. W. E. Eustler, of Greensboro, N. C., won the Angelo trophy, a sterling silver shield for the three best portraits on Anglo-Saxon platinum paper. The trophy must be won three consecutive years before permanent ownership is attained. Mr. Eustler was successful last year.

The Van Ness grand portrait cup, one of the handsomest of the prizes, was awarded to Homer C. Clark, of this city. The trophy is given for the best portrait exhibited by a member of the association. W. E. Eustler came in for a second honor in capturing the Asheville trophy, given for the best portrait of a woman. The grand portrait prize any person outside the Virginia-Carolina association has won by W. H. Towles, of Washington.

The meeting last night was followed by a smoker in the Jefferson auditorium.

BIJOU WILL OPEN

Inspector Beck Satisfied That Theatre Is Perfectly Safe Now.

The Bijou Theatre, which for some time has been closed for repairs, will be opened on Monday. Late last night Building Inspector Beck informed the Board of Public Safety that he was of opinion that it was safe to open the house, excluding the use of the top gallery. He thinks there is no cause for alarm, and that the building will prove perfectly safe, so long as his suggestions are obeyed.

Married in Washington. A marriage license was issued in Washington, yesterday, to Gordon R. Lockett, a miller, of 308 Fourth Avenue, and Mrs. Kate B. Verne, of 308 East Main Street.

The bride and bridegroom are both well known here, and will probably make their future home in this city. No information of the wedding could be secured here last night, and it is not known whether or not the marriage was a surprise to the relatives of the contracting parties.

SEND TO NEW WORK FOR NEW WORKMEN

Tailors and Employes Fail to Agree on Time Scale After Long Conference.

DOORS CLOSED TO STRIKERS

Experienced Help Coming, With No Delay in Delivery of Goods Ordered.

After a conference yesterday between the strikers and proprietors of seven ladies' tailoring establishments, at which the workmen refused to return to-day on a ten-hour schedule, the employers decided to send M. Goldstein and O. Molloy to New York to engage the services of fifteen experienced men who will arrive here Tuesday morning to take the places made vacant by the strikers.

As heretofore printed in The Times-Dispatch, there are no differences as to salary, the tailors being satisfied with the wage scale, although they objected to ten hours instead of nine hours, the latter being the schedule during the dull season. There has been no trouble of any kind, and the workmen went away quietly and in good temper. The employers discussed the matter with them at some length, although they could arrive at no satisfactory settlement, and it was stated that those who quit cannot now return.

No Delay for Customers. B. Fisher, of the Cosmopolitan Tailoring Company, said last night that Mr. Goldstein and Mr. Molloy would find an abundance of experienced help in New York; that the new men would report for duty Tuesday morning, and that there would be no delay in the delivery of goods ordered by Richmond and out-of-town customers.

"We will have fifteen men here by Tuesday," said Mr. Fisher, "and they will work on the ten-hour schedule. We do not anticipate any more trouble, as the men to be brought here, and who receive good pay, have been accustomed to the ten-hour schedule and are willing to locate in Richmond, where they will have permanent employment."

Except for the fact that the two factions could not get together, the meeting yesterday was entirely harmonious, and was marked by the absence of all bitterness.

BYRD INDORSES JOHN WILLIAMS

House Speaker Advocates Re-election of Old Clerk Over Raleigh Green.

John W. Williams, clerk of the House of Delegates and keeper of the rolls of the State of Virginia, left for his home in Giles county last night to look after some matters relating to the success of the Democratic party in the Ninth Congressional District. Mr. Williams will return to the city within the next few days.

When seen on his way to his train, Mr. Williams declared that though he had no claim to make concerning the candidacy of his competitor, Raleigh T. Green, of Culpeper, yet he felt confident that he would win by a comfortable majority in the caucus, as he had more than enough pledges from the Democrats already nominated to put him out of the woods.

The situation regarding the fight for clerk of the House is in some respects peculiar. Mr. Williams, the incumbent for a number of years, is a strong candidate for re-election, having drawn around him not only the support of a large majority of the old members of the House, but many Democrats of influence on the outside. Speaker Richard E. Byrd has given his entire support and endorsement to the candidacy of Mr. Williams, declaring that as Speaker he is thoroughly satisfied with the present administration of the office. He goes further when he says openly to his friends that the work of the House may be greatly handicapped by the election of a new man for clerk, who has not had the benefit of training and experience.

Set against all this is the fact that some of the strongest party leaders in the State are backing Mr. Green, who in several recent campaigns has rendered great service through his paper to the dominant faction of the party, as well as in subsequent contests to the nominees.

Two Appeals Granted. In the Supreme Court yesterday appeals were allowed in two cases: Haw & Pollard vs. the American Stone Company (Inc.), from the Circuit Court of the city of Richmond.

Williams and others vs. Johnson and others, from the Circuit Court of Isle of Wight.

EXPERTS EXAMINE GREERY'S GAS PIPE

Sent There by Justice Crutchfield, Court Hearing Going Over Until To-Day.

After a long and exhaustive hearing in the Police Court yesterday morning, the case of James Edward Greery, charged with placing around his gas meter a pipe, so as to defraud the city out of the gas used in his residence, was continued until this morning at 9 o'clock, in order that Justice Crutchfield might get the benefit of opinions of expert plumbers and gas fitters on the subject before making his decision.

Accordingly, in company with Gas Inspector Shelton, James H. Chappell, J. W. Sargent, Henry Grimmer and J. E. Phillips went over to Greery's house yesterday afternoon to make an investigation of the case. Although the full result of their inquiry was not made public last night, it is known that they discovered things that did not come out in the Police Court, but which will be aired to-day. They found that the original trap under the meter was too small to allow a man to get under it to place the alleged fraudulent pipe there, and that some of the flooring had been sawed away so as to make the space large enough for the things were also found, but they will come out before the continued hearing this morning. Mr. Shelton said last night that he was with the investigators the entire time, and would be perfectly satisfied with their decision.

Police Court Hearing. In the hearing yesterday Mr. Shelton testified that on August 24 his reader was at Greery's house, and that he pressed some doubt that the meter was correct. A new meter was put in, and a reading of it the next day showed that it was the same as on July 3, satisfying him that none of the gas during this time had been paid for. He said that when he visited the house, making a personal investigation, according to instructions of Mayor Richardson, he lighted six of the gas burners as they stood at that time, and that the meter did not register. He then cut the pipe and relighted the burners, and found that the meter worked perfectly.

Greery took the stand, saying that the house was built about ten years ago, and that at that time it was in Henrico county. He said that he had the house fitted with pipe because he intended to have a private gas plant. He told the workmen to put in the pipe so he could cut off the supply when he wanted to. In case the plant was installed, the pipe, he said, was installed for two reasons—for the private gas supply and for a meter in case the house ever got into the city. He said the connection was made according to instructions, but in the wrong place.

"I thought," he said, "that the pipe was in the meter closet, and I did not go to look for it. I was surprised to find it so low under the floor of my house. Gas was turned on last November, and I have been paying the bills right along ever since."

He was closely cross-examined both by Commonwealth's Attorney Folkes and Assistant City Attorney Anderson. More than twenty men, well known in the city, appeared to testify as to the good character of the defendant, and showed that he had always borne the best reputation in this city all his life. He is represented by Gilbert K. Pollock.
